

The Seven Emus

By Indigenous Artist Daniel Goodwin

As written on the back of painting by same name measuring 1925 cm x 1165cm on canvas.

The picture shows the story as written in Daniels hand on the back of the canvas, which also has drawings.

“This is a Story from Lumbner Cattle Station but before it was The Station it was called The Seven Emu Water Hole in The Rainbow Valley. The Story goes that someone saw seven emu come to drink water and all the men waited around the main water hole to catch the emu but the emu went to the other little waterhole”.

Arts Dan Goodwin

Tribe Pitchenjarra

Skin Name Tjinta Tjinta

2005

